PRESIDENT SIGNS
CLOSING MEASURES

Washington, November 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first and special session of the sixty-seventh congress ended late today, after President Harding had visited the capitol and signed measures enacted in the closing hours. The house was the first to close up shop, adjourning sine die at 4:01, and at 4:37 o'clock the senate quit.

Chief among the measures signed by Mr. Harding were the tax revision and maternity bills, each of which, for several months, has occupied the attention of one branch of congress or the other.

Washington, November 23.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—The final adjournment tonight of the special session of the sixty-seventh congress accentuates a seven and a half months' national legislative record that is the most remarkable in the nation's history for its absolute lack of tangible constructive result.

Called to convene one month after the inauguration of a republican executive, with both branches overwhelmingly in party sympathy with the president, and opened with a proposed program formidable enough to meet some of the demands of a war-depressed nation, particularly as affecting the producing interests that had been sorely embarrassed by a curtailment of export trading, the bald fact stands out tonight that the gavel has fallen upon the extra session without one single piece of legislation having been enacted that can be even politically or partially construed as of economic value in the rehabilitation of the nation's agricultural and commercial interests.

Brand's Proposal.
That these interests have overcome the tide of post-war tribulations and have taken an advanced step forward, have been in spite of and not by reason of any legislation inaugurated or put through by the controlling congressional majority. Indeed, it was a democrat from Georgia, Judge Charles H. Brand, who first proposed the re-establishment of the democratic war finance corporation, and the tide of financial distress has turned around by this agency and its co-ordinated federal reserve system, another product of a former democratic congress. The special session that has just adjourned passed a temporary tariff

Atlanta Is Ready
For Celebration
On Thanksgiving

Church Services, Football
Games and Turkey Feasts
Will Feature Day.

Atlanta is going to celebrate Thanksgiving as it does everything else—wholeheartedly. The celebration actually began last night when places of business closed their doors and Atlantans turned their faces or their automobiles homeward, bearing turkeys.

For Thanksgiving day is essentially a day of feasting. It was so ordained by the Pilgrim Fathers. O. Henry declares that the Thanksgiving turkey is the only thing American that has reached the dignity of possessing tradition, and Atlanta is today going to live up to the best of traditions with celery and cranberry sauce and oyster dressing and such on the side. The Pilgrim Fathers also ordained that the day be one devoted to the family altar, and the president of the United States has so proclaimed. In this, too, Atlanta is carrying out the very spirit of the occasion.

Closed With a Bang.
When the doors of stores and offices were closed Wednesday evening, they were closed with a bang. There was a finality about the thing that indicated that those doors would not be opened until Friday morning anyhow. And the door shutting completed, the honest Atlantans thought of no place but home. A traffic man of the Georgia Railway and Power company declared that the home movement Wednesday evening between 5:30 and 6 o'clock was the greatest in his experience of more than fifteen years. Traffic was jammed from the viaduct to Baker street going north. It required a street car exactly 21 minutes to cover that space, which is done on the schedules in about four minutes.

Right in the homes, as those sturdy but severe old dissenters had decreed, the real celebration of the day will take place. Atlanta believes that as a city and as a people it has every cause to be thankful. Peace reigns. Prosperity is in the land. Pestilence and disaster have spared the city, and for these things thousands of heads will be bowed in solemn reverence before they are again bowed to do that justice to the fowl that is emblematic of the season.

Special Church Services.
In many of the churches of the city, there will be special services of Thanksgiving and to these services the devout will wend their way. Many others will devote the day, as is the good American custom, to jollification. It is believed that fully 20,000 Atlantans will journey out to Grant field to witness the annual football clash between the Georgia

Says Death Report
Much Exaggerated

After reading in the newspapers Wednesday a notice of his own death, John Ashley Jones, resident manager of the New York Life Insurance company in Atlanta, pinched himself, walked about a minute to reassure himself, then called up The Constitution, and denied that he was dead. The notice carried an account of the death of J. A. Jones, of 200 Wellington street. The deceased was a confederate veteran, 81 years old, and not John Ashley Jones, who was too young to fight in the conflict between the states.

PROPOSAL IS LINKED

Is Offered as Substitute for Grain Rate Slash
Ordered by Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington, November 23.—A 10 per cent reduction in carload freight rates on farm products, coupled with reduction in railroad wages, was proposed by the carriers to the interstate commerce commission today as a substitute for the order of the commission dated October 20, reducing rates on hay and grain shipments. The substitute schedules would be effective "for an experimental period of six months." The commission was asked to reopen its decision of October 20, in order that argument might be given in behalf of their proposal.

The suggested reduction on carload shipments, it was explained, would cover grain, hay, cotton and cotton seed and its products except meal and oil; citrus and fresh fruits, live stock and dairy products. The scope of the proposed cut in wages was not indicated, the statement merely stating that "the benefit of the reduction thus obtained" from the railroad labor board shall not apply to the movement of such traffic wholly within New England.

Effect Outlined.
"The effect of this proposal," said the application, "will be an immediate reduction in carload rates on the products of agriculture and the products of animals which are mentioned, but as soon as and to the extent that a reduction in wages is obtained from the labor board on the proposed application, a further reduction in rates

Agency Issues Statement.

Superintendent of Education M. L. Brittain Wednesday asked Governor Hardwick to issue duplicate school warrants to cover the warrants on which R. N. Berrien, Jr., missing broker, is charged with embezzlement amounting to approximately $25,000. The request was made in a letter sent to the governor, a specific request being made that the governor issue a warrant for a similar amount issued to C. B. Gibson, superintendent of education of Chatham county, which was involved in the Berrien account. Governor Hardwick took the request under advisement after writing Superintendent Brittain informing him that the matter had been referred to Attorney-General George M. Napier for an opinion.

Wednesday afternoon Superintendent Brittain called on Governor Hardwick and in a personal conference asked that the governor make every effort to see that the county and city boards of education be freed from liability on the Berrien warrants. The superintendent also sent a letter to Attorney-General Napier pointing out that the city and county educational authorities should not be made to suffer any more than if the warrants had been lost in a railway accident.

Approximately 100 leading farmers from every section of the United States left Atlanta Wednesday night at 10 o'clock over the A. B. & A. railway for Montezuma, Ga., where they will be met and taken on a two-day automobile tour through some of Georgia's best agricultural and grazing lands.

All the farmers were representatives to the third annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which adjourned Wednesday night in the local Auditorium, after completing a three-day session, discussing farm problems, hearing prominent speakers, electing officers and passing 19 resolutions, which become the program of the federation for the next year.

Hold Long Session.

The consideration of resolutions presented the convention Wednesday night took up the entire time of the last session, and the convention adjourned sine die at 12 o'clock. The resolutions urged that the United States immediately adopt the tender of Henry Ford relative to the Muscle Shoals development; that in the contemplated reorganization of the federal departments at Washington the present effectiveness and services of the department of agriculture be in no wise lessened; that the federation disapprove the repeal of the excess profits tax, and that the federation is opposed to the principle of a general sales tax, or any similar plan such as the general manufacturers' tax; that farmers should be given preferential credit on twelve and twenty-four months' paper, instead of the short term credit now available; that the federal reserve board direct its policies so that primary production may be given the continued

BY L. O. MOSLEY.

Dublin, Ga., November 24.—(Special.)—George Walker, a boy 15 years old, and son of a prominent Laurens county farmer, must spend the rest of his life in prison for the murder of his playmate, George Avery, aged 18, if the sentence of the court, passed upon him at 12:30 this morning, stands. After a trial, featured by evidence that on the night of the killing, Avery implored the accused to "drop his knife and fight fair," young Walker stood weeping before Judge F. L. Kent as sentence was imposed. As the last words fell from the judge's lips, the boy collapsed and now is under the care of a physician.

George B. Davis, attorney for the defense, objected to the verdict being received on the ground that the court was in session on a legal holiday. The judge overruled him, stating that according to "sun" time, the verdict would be received Wednesday night.

The foreman read the verdict of guilty with recommendation for mercy at 12:10 eastern time and at 11:10 central time. Mr. Davis then moved for a mistrial and was overruled. Later, the attorney moved for a new trial and the judge announced he would announce the date for the hearing within the next few days.

Mother Ill.

The convicted boy's mother is seriously ill as a result of the fatal fight, which occurred August 2, and was unable to attend the trial. Jim Walker was with his son when the verdict was received.

The case was called in court shortly after noon Wednesday and the actual trial commenced at three. Walker

GLYNN APPROVES
HIGHWAY PROJECT

Road Will Be Constructed
Immediately Between Brunswick and St.
Simons Island.

Brunswick, Ga., November 23.—(Special.)—The voters of Glynn county today authorized a bond issue of $175,000 for the building of an automobile highway from Brunswick to St. Simons island. The victory came after a hard fight on the part of those who managed the campaign for bonds, some strong opposition recently having developed.

Out of a total of 650 votes polled 619 were cast in favor of bonds and 61 against. The small vote was due to the fact that many voters were stricken from the registration list because their taxes were not paid six months previous to the date of the election.

An informal city election was also held today, a ballot box being placed at the courthouse and each voter was requested to express himself as to whether or not he favored the city issuing bonds for $175,000 for the city share in building the highway.

In this election 628 votes were cast and of this number 615 voted for bonds and 13 against.

While there were only 26 women registered who could participate in the county election, some two hundred or more were eligible to vote in the city box.

The result today means that the highway to the island will be built as soon as possible, thus connecting with the mainland all St. Simons island.

Many consider it the greatest undertaking of the kind ever attempted in the state and those who have worked so hard for the project are elated tonight over the result.

Washington, November 23.—The following communiqué was issued today to the meeting of the committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions: "The committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions met at 3:30 p. m. in the Columbus room of the Pan-American building. All the members were present, except Signor Meda and Baron Shidehara. Mr. Hanibara was present for the first time as one of the Japanese delegates.

"The topic of discussion was the customs revenues of China. Mr. Koo, on behalf of the delegation, made a statement as follows:

"First of all he emphasized that the Chinese government has no desire to interfere with the present administration of maritime customs or with devotion of the proceeds of the customs revenue to the liquidation of foreign loans secured thereon. A brief account was given by him about the origin and the history of the Chinese treaty tariffs.

History of Tariffs.

"Prior to 1842, he said, China enjoyed the full right of levying customs duties. In 1842, however, and in the subsequent years after having made treaties with Great Britain, France and the United States, a limitation upon this right was for the first time imposed. The rule of 5 per cent ad valorem was thereby established and the rates were based upon the current prices then prevailing. In 1858, as prices of commodities began to drop and the 5 per cent actually collected appeared to be somewhat in excess of the 5 per cent prescribed, a revision was asked for by the treaty powers. A revision was accordingly made.

"Later, however, as prices mounted, no request for a revision was forthcoming and the Chinese government on her part did not press for a revision, seeing that the revenue then collected from other sources was not inadequate to meet its requirements.

British and Chinese Opinions Differ, and French

CONTROL OF CUSTOMS
BASIS OF DIFFERENCE

Chinese Challenge British
Interpretation of Principles Accepted in Root Resolution.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, November 23.—The attempt to settle specific problems that are troubling the Far East led today to the first sharp clash of opinion in the arms conference.

The British view of the concrete application of the four general principles already adopted met with a prompt challenge from the Chinese and the Chinese delegates themselves were pointedly asked by the French to show by what authority they presumed to speak for all of China over the protests of the south China government at Canton.

Strangely enough the Japanese, who had been the first to raise objections to the consideration of details of the Far East came forward with a suggestion that they would not oppose an examination of their famous "twenty-one demands" treaty with China to ascertain whether it conflicts with the "open door."

French Objection.

Although the action of the French in questioning the credentials of the Chinese caused a momentary flurry in the meeting of the nine delegations, the divergence of opinion between the Chinese and British over application of the four principles of the Root resolution attracted widest attention because of its possible effect on future negotiations. Should the British view prevail, declared the Chinese, it would mean an internationalization of Chinese economic resources.

The French objection was interposed, when the Chinese presented, at today's meeting, a plan by which China would regain tariff autonomy by a gradual change from the present foreign control. The Chinese replied to the challenge that they were representing the only government in China recognized by the powers, and were attempting to help rather than to complicate the negotiations by furnishing whatever information they could.

The difference of view between the British and Chinese developed when a British spokesman explained to newspapermen that his government regarded the four accepted principles as meaning acceptance by China of a financial consortium, pooling the operation of railroad concessions held by the powers and continued supervision of China's customs. The Root resolutions, according to the British viewpoint, were regarded as acceptance by China of those principles in view by the signatory powers.

Prompt Challenge.

The Chinese quickly sent out word that they had agreed to no such program. While Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to the United States,

Richmond, November 23.—After a day devoted by the entire population of Richmond to paying him honor, Marshal Foch left for Washington tonight en route to Harrisburg, Pa., the first scheduled stop in his transcontinental tour. There were reports, however, prior to his departure that some portions of the itinerary might be cancelled, the swing through South Carolina and the southeastern cities being mentioned as the most probable deletions, if such action became necessary. It was understood that the reason for the suggested changes was the strain which the French leader has undergone since his arrival in the United States.

N. L. Post, of 164 East North avenue, a locomotive engineer for the Seaboard Air Line railway, is dead from four bullet wounds and Mrs. T. E. Williams, of 280 Ormond street, wife of a Pinkerton operative, is held at police station without bond on a charge of murder following her statement that she had killed the man in defense of her honor.

Lieutenant Ryan, of the detective department, and Detectives Armstrong, Austin and Woodson were securing detailed statements from Mrs. Williams and a Mrs. Harvey, aged 20, of 60 Garnett street, who was being detained as a witness early Thursday morning.

INFORMS

POLICE.
Mrs. Williams personally informed the police of the shooting at 11 o'clock by telephone. Call Officers Bullard and Cody, answering the call, arrived at the Ormond street address before Post died. Neighbors hearing the shots had rushed to the street to find the wounded man sitting erect at the steering wheel of his machine, in company with a Mr. Curtis, of 353 East Georgia avenue. They took Post into the Williams residence and placed him on a bed, and following the declaration of Mrs. Williams that she had fired the shots, Curtis was permitted by the citizens to leave.

Early Thursday he was being sought by the police as a witness. He was reported away from his apartment on Georgia avenue.

The movements during the early evening of the four, consisting of Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Harvey, Post and Curtis were related by the self-confessed slayer.

She and Post called in the machine at 60 Garnett street for Mrs. Harvey about 7 o'clock. They then went to the Curtis apartment. Mrs. Williams stated that Curtis told them that his wife was in Birmingham, and said "I have two bedrooms here and both of you must spend the night." Resenting that, she said, they started walking home, and were overtaken by Post and Curtis in Post's machine. After riding around for a few minutes they returned to the Williams' residence.

sideration which it merits; that the federation denounces the principle of guaranteeing income upon fixed valuation to the railroads of the United States; and ask the repeal of section 15-A, Esch-Cummings law; that the Admonition law should be repealed or modified as speedily as possible; and that congress immediately enact into law the export credit feature of the so-called "farmers' relief bill."

The convention also passed a resolution praising the hospitality of Atlantans, and pledging to the government the federation's support in making the present arms limitation conference a success.

The convention was addressed by Henry C. Wallace, United States secretary of agriculture, and Mrs. Letitia Brown, of Kingswood, W. Va. Wednesday morning, Secretary Wallace said that the department of agriculture was created to serve the farmer, and discussed farm legislation in congress.

Prices Drop Back.
"Farm prices have gone back to normal," said Wallace, "but prices on other commodities have not yet receded, and that is why I think the present depression is worse than any we have ever had."

"This condition has been realized by congress, and during the past eight months it has passed more legislation to help the farmer than any other congress has ever done in the same length of time. More bills are pending and I believe that much additional agricultural legislation will be passed."

The two-day trip through Georgia's agricultural and grazing lands was planned for the convention by the Georgia association, H. G. Hastings, president. The tourists will be met at Montezuma Thursday morning by a committee composed of J. W. McKenzie, Jule Felton, Jr., and J. W. Florio, and will be given a breakfast there by the citizens. All expenses of the visiting farmers will be paid by the Georgia association and the farms through which the tourists pass. The only expense attached to the trip is the railroad fare to Montezuma and back.

Through Peach Section.
From Montezuma the tourists will be taken in autos through the peach section and a stop will be made at Marshville. From there they will be taken through Turner county to the creamery city of Ashburn, where a real Thanksgiving barbecue will be laid out for the guests. The Ashburn creamery there and the dairy farms in the vicinity will then be visited.

The party will then go to Sylvester and on to Thomasville, where they will be the guests of the city Thursday night. Friday the party will go to Cairo and Millville, and there inspect the cane syrup industry. At Albany lunch will be taken and the party will return to Montezuma Friday night.

Large Breeders Going.
Among the visiting farmers on the trip are some of the largest breeders of dairy cattle and hogs in the United States, and they will consider it an expected, the section which they visit as a future market for dairy cattle breeds. They will also be on the lookout for cheap land as an investment.

Negro Hit by Auto.
James Fitzpatrick, colored, of 283 Conley street, was riding a bicycle along Georgia avenue Wednesday night, when he was struck by an automobile run by H. E. Thompson. The negro was knocked down, but sustained no serious injuries. He was taken to the Grady hospital for medical attention.

One of the members of the party making the trip is George A. Montgomery, of Monticello, Kan., who represents four Kansas farm papers. He is the Kansas State Farm Bureau Bulletin, and represents The Weekly Bulletin, The Kansas Farmer-Stockman, and The Kansas Farmer, and Mail and Breeze. He is also director of publicity for the Kansas state farm bureau.

Secretary Abbott was in receipt of letters and telegrams and phone calls throughout Wednesday from farmers in the section of the tour, and without an exception expressed themselves in readiness to give the visitors a good time. One telegram from J. M. Patterson, president of the Paper Shell Pecan Association, of Albany, Ga., said that the "largest pecan groves and grading and packing plant in the world, one which turns out daily 15,000 pounds of pecans," will be open for inspection.

To Help the Farmers.
Secretary Wallace, of the United States department of agriculture, said in his speech that the main work for the department to do now is to help the farmer, not along production lines, but along economical lines; that is, reach the farmer to study all angles of agriculture as factors in industrial and business men do.

He also said that American agriculture is going through the most severe period of depression since the war, but predicted a trend towards better things.

"There is no short cut to that condition," he said. "It will be hard pull and it will take some hard work, but I believe the bottom has been hit and that the rise has set in. The federal farm loan banks will be functioning properly soon. They are already at work, lending money at the rate of $10,000 a month. I believe that the maximum amount of loans from these banks should be increased from $10,000 to $20,000, so that the care of the farmers on a big enough scale. That must be remedied."

Foreign Buying Slight.
"The difficulty with the War Finance corporation, which may have seemed slow in operation, was that there was no direct dealing with the individual farmers. It had to function through the heads of large business organizations. It is the earnest desire of that corporation, however, to get the money out to the farmers. They do not purpose to sit back and make it hard, keeping in mind, however, all the time that it is not a charitable organization, but a business proposition."

Resolutions Adopted.
The resolutions adopted by the convention Wednesday night follow in part:

We pledge ourselves anew to carry out the objects of the American Farm Bureau federation, which are to develop, strengthen and coordinate the work of the state and federal organizations to encourage and promote the production of farm products, to improve facilities and conditions for economic and efficient production.

We urge, in the contemplated reorganization of federal farm loans at Washington, that the present effectiveness and service of the department of agriculture be in no wise lessened. We ask, on the other hand, that the department be further developed to the end that it may even better those whom it is intended to help, in order that the business of agriculture may be put on a sound basis.

We request congress to enact legislation at once, which will give to the farmers of America the measure of protection that may be necessary to equalize the difference between the costs of production of farm products in this country and in competing nations.

We are opposed to the taxing of all tax-free securities, and request that congress submit a constitutional amendment to the several states to curtail the tax on our tax system.

We denounce the repeal of the excess profits tax. We are opposed to the principle of a general sales tax, and the plan which as the general manufacturers' tax.

What Farmers Ask.
We ask: Proper credit for farmers on twelve and twenty-four months' paper, instead of the short-term credit now provided. The proper authorization for commodity financing based upon warehouse receipts. Free stock financing, based upon a proper pledge.

Personal rural credits, secured by proper insurance features, and the creating machinery that will enable co-operative societies to get along direct. That the federal reserve board direct its policy so that primary production may be given the consideration, which it merits.

CHERRY EMERSON HEADS TECH BOYS

Cherry Emerson, prominent Atlanta architect and engineer, was unanimously elected president of the Georgia Tech Atlanta association at the annual meeting of that body held last night at Cable hall, to succeed "Tommy" Stout, the retiring president. Other officers elected were M. A. First, vice president; Horace Holleman, secretary-treasurer; Jack Spaulding and Frank Sprattin, members of the executive committee.

Closer co-operation with the faculty and more intimate relations with the student body on the part of the alumni of Tech were urged as necessary for the good of Tech, and plans for the carrying out of this policy were formulated.

Appreciate Friendship.
Expression of appreciation for the loyal friendship of the citizens of Atlanta to Tech and the desire of Tech alumni and the student body in turn to give expression whenever possible to a reciprocal loyalty on their part, were the first items on the agenda.

Plans are under way, according to announcements made at the meeting for a foundation of a scholarship by the Atlanta alumni who are architects, to be open to juniors in the architectural course at Tech, which will provide for the carrying out of Europe for study of European architecture.

Resolutions expressing the regret of the alumni for the resignation of K. G. Matheson were unanimously passed, and applause greeted the statement of "Chip" Robert, prominent alumnus and trustee of Tech, that the board of trustees was determined to find and secure the best man in the United States as his successor.

Resolutions Passed.
Following are the resolutions: Whereas we are pleased with the resignation of K. G. Matheson as president of the Georgia Tech Atlanta association, and in view of the fact that he has been a member of the association for many years, and has been a most efficient and successful leader, we hereby express our sincere appreciation for his services, and we request that the association continue to honor his memory.

Resolved, that the association continue to honor the memory of K. G. Matheson, and that the association continue to honor the memory of K. G. Matheson, and that the association continue to honor the memory of K. G. Matheson.

YOUTH SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISON

is the youngest white person ever tried in this country for murder. The two boys had been friends and schoolmates for several years. Owing to the youth of the accused and the prominence of the Walker and Avery families in middle Georgia, the case attracted wide attention and was attended by one of the largest crowds ever assembled for a court trial in this country.

The state's attorneys endeavored to prove that animosity existed between the accused and the dead boy, inasmuch as both were said to have been leaders of separate groups and had previously had fist fights in which Avery was alleged to have been the victor.

Claims Self Defense.
The state tried to show that the slaying of Avery was first degree murder and that the latter, unarmed and at the time of the killing, implored his younger antagonist to discard his knife and make a "fight fair."

The defense attempted to show that young Walker had been unnecessarily beaten by Avery on more than one occasion and that on the night of the cutting fray, Avery was advancing toward him with a heavy fence post upraised, in a threatening manner, and that Walker was defending himself from bodily injury.

Young Walker and Avery lived in Orianna community, several miles southeast of Dublin and resided only a short distance from each other. The cutting, which resulted in the death of Avery, occurred on Monday night, August 2, while the two were attending a religious service at Orianna Methodist church.

Witnesses stated that the two boys appeared to be on excellent terms and left the church during the service for the purpose of obtaining drinking water from a nearby well, and that Avery had his arm about Walker in an affectionate manner.

When they had proceeded but a few yards' distance, heated words were heard and persons rushed towards them as Walker was alleged to have plunged his pocket knife deep into the stomach of Avery, who died within a few seconds' time and before assistance could be rendered.

Many Witnesses.
Forty-seven witnesses were summoned to testify in the case. Most of them were called to the stand before the trial ended.

The testimony of witnesses concluded early in the night, and the arguments were started immediately. The session was marked by frequent sharp fights between contending counsel in the case. Solicitor E. L. Stephens, for the state, was assisted by the firm of Adams & Gault, and the defense was handled by George B. Davis. Walker's first trial, a few weeks after the crime, resulted in a mistrial.

PRETTY ATLANTA BLOND IS FOUND; MEMORY GONE

Memphis, Tenn., November 23.—(Special.)—Gertrude Schwaner, pretty blond, about 25, a victim of amnesia, is in Memphis. She doesn't know how she got here or when. She was found by officials of the Travelers Aid society, wandering about in the Grand Central station, Police believe the girl is from Atlanta.

Two notebooks with names and addresses of persons in Atlanta and New Jersey, were found in the girl's handbag. "I lived in a big house, with a lot of girls," is all she will or can tell police. Officials of the woman's bureau, police department, believe the girl formerly was an inmate of the Georgia State Insane asylum.

"The proposal thus deals immediately, and without waiting for a reduction in the cost of the agricultural products, with the needs of agriculture, and undertakes to make further reductions not confined to agriculture as soon as further reductions are made possible.

To Aid Readjustment.
"Your petitioners, in view of the condition and of the special needs of the transportation industry, do not believe that any further reductions in rates than those herein mentioned, should be made until there is a reduction in operating costs."

Thank Dr. Matheson.
It is therefore resolved by the Georgia Tech Atlanta association, here assembled at its annual meeting, that we extend to Dr. Matheson our heartfelt thanks for the assistance and inspiration he has ever been to us as an undergraduate, all of us as Tech men—both as individuals in school and afterwards, and as a part of that whole that is the Georgia School of Technology.

It is further resolved, that we congratulate Dr. Matheson on this obvious recognition of his ability and prominence as a national figure in educational circles, and that we extend to him our sincerest wishes for that success in his new work which he so greatly deserves.

It is further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be mailed to the chairman of the board of trustees.

MARTIN MOTOR CO. SUCCEEDS SO. OAKLAND

Change Is in Name Only,
New Firm to Handle New Durant Automobiles.

R. H. Martin, president of the Southern Oakland company, former distributor for Oakland cars in the southeast, announces that his charter has been amended, to change the firm name to Martin Motor Car company.

The officers of the company remain the same. The new firm will handle the GMC truck in the southeast, under the trade name of Southeastern GMC Truck company, as heretofore, and will handle the new Durant line of automobiles under the new name.

Mr. Martin is one of the best-known figures in the automobile business in the south, and is well known throughout the entire industry. He began his career as a Buick salesman in Washington. After being promoted to manager of the Washington branch of the Buick Motor company, in less than six years, he came to Atlanta and organized the Southern Oakland company, which sold its franchise and a part of their equipment to the Oakland Motor Car company several months since.

He has given unsparingly of his time in the promotion of the automobile business in the southeast. He has been several times singularly honored by both the Atlanta Automobile association and the Georgia State Automobile association.

The Durant Four will be shown by the Martin Motor Car company this week. The Durant is built by W. C. Durant, former president of General Motors, and one of the outstanding figures in the entire automobile business.

Real News on Parley To Be Scarce for Days

BY WICKHAM STEED.
Editor of The London Times.
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)

Washington, November 23.—Rumors, statements, counter-statements and corrections seem likely to form the substance of conference news for the next few days. On both its main issues, the conference has now reached a point in which much discussion of detail and drafting of suggestions will necessarily precede any definite agreement.

What may be called for short the naval question and the Chinese question are undergoing this treatment. Until it is completed, no reliable view of the situation will be possible. Meanwhile, the public should be on its guard against partial statements, some of which may be the outcome of an artistic desire on the part of newspapermen to provide readable "stories," and others may be attributable to the wish of some delegations to steal a march upon their competitors for public favor.

The naval question seems for the moment to be under a cloud. Japan desires apparently to secure an allotment of 70 per cent of battleship strength as compared with the United States and the British empire. She might ultimately accept 65 per cent, but she is likely to drive a shrewd bargain. Any change in the ratio 5-5-3, which allotted to Japan 60 per cent of the British and the American battleship strength, would involve considerable adjustments. On this point, therefore, the solution may be tardy.

Other Navies.

A controversy on percentages has begun also between France and Italy. The ratio originally, though not officially, contemplated for the French and the Italian navies was 2-2, or 40 per cent of battleship strength for each as compared with 100 per cent for the United States and the British Empire, and 60 per cent for Japan. An announcement was made yesterday that France might insist on receiving a percentage of battleship or capital ship strength equal to that of Japan, and upon a full quota of submarine tonnage. This announcement roused Italian apprehensions, since Italy is determined to demand equality with France at whatever ratio of strength the conference may establish. But, under the influence of M. Briand, the French announcement has now been qualified, if not entirely withdrawn, and Italian apprehensions are allayed, if not removed.

These flutters are likely to recur at intervals. They should not disturb public equanimity. Among the larger aspects of the naval question the most important will be the arrangements for the replacement of capital ships. The question of replacement is serious, both intrinsically and because it is intimately connected with the project for a ten-year naval holiday. There is reason to believe that American naval experts now see the drawbacks to the naval holiday idea, and understand the importance of graduating the age of battleships that are to mature for replacement. No one can say whether their advice will make headway against the popular liking for the idea of a complete naval holiday, but it is evident that any modification of this idea must come from the Americans themselves.

To Back U. S. Plan.

The value of an international agreement for the limitation of armaments would be seriously diminished were any foreign delegation to put forward a plan which, if accepted, might serve as a pretext for infidelity to the conference to claim that foreigners had "put over" a scheme radically at variance with the original American suggestion.

Since the authorities of the United States took the initiative in convening the conference and in proposing the plan for the limitation of naval armaments, they must necessarily take the responsibility of suggesting any fundamental change.

It should never be forgotten that the whole background of the conference is the discipline of the United States senate, if not indeed of the American people, to assume definite international responsibilities. It is not a question of what American statesmen may, in their hearts of hearts, believe to be expedient, but a question of what they may think the legislature and the public will support under these circumstances, the atmosphere of the conference is inevitably very fluid.

Chinese Question.

When the Chinese question is approached, this fluidity is accentuated. The American public are less familiar with the complexities of the Chinese puzzle than with the main data of the naval question. On Tuesday, for instance, the committee on the Far East dealt with the Chinese tariff issue, and took into consideration what would appear to be some thoroughly misleading arguments in regard to the Chinese maritime customs. The form in which these arguments are put before the public by some American writers today makes it seem as though all that is needed to insure the prosperity of China would be to substitute Chinese for the foreign personnel in the customs administration, and to abolish restrictions upon Chinese freedom to raise the tariff to any desirable height. This idle conception easily ignores facts and puts the case of court. Undoubtedly, from the standpoint of Chinese officials, there would be great advantage in the provision of opportunities for a display on a larger scale of their integrity in handling public monies; but from the standpoint of the conference, one of whose main tasks is to restore something that can not only be called, but will be, China, suggestions of this kind serve only to raise doubts whether the Chinese delegation really represent anything but themselves.

Far more important is a statement that Mr. Root, in the name of the American delegation, has advanced the principle that, since the powers have recognized the independence and the sovereignty of China, they must also recognize the validity of the treaties concluded by China with various powers. The adoption of this principle would no doubt facilitate a solution of those main tasks in restoring something that can not only be called, but will be, China, suggestions of this kind serve only to raise doubts whether the Chinese delegation really represent anything but themselves.

Probably some middle course will presently be found. Therefore, for the present, the warning I have given against premature conclusions upon the work of the conference, holds good in this respect also.

Held for Murder.

Augusta, Ga., November 23.—(Special.)—Tom Johnson, colored, has been turned over by the Jenkins county authorities to Richmond officers. Johnson has just finished a term on the chain gang at Millen for some trivial offense. Recently a negro arrested here gave information which led the Richmond county authorities to believe that Johnson is guilty of a murder of a negro named John White, which occurred in Augusta in 1916.

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

Thanksgiving

Our country is justly called "The Home of Freedom." America offers to the individual more liberty, more democracy and more justice than any other country in all the world. Every individual is a part of this great country, for as the individual thinks and acts, so thinks and acts the government.

This freedom has been made possible by men of ideals, who were not afraid to sacrifice. The virtues in our flag have been upheld by stable people who placed honor and justice above self.

So on this sacred day—while we give thanks for such a glorious country—and for fathers who were ever ready to defend our honor at any cost—let's appreciate our own individual responsibility and pledge ourselves as individuals to uphold the ideals which truly make our country great.

Bidding Farewell Briand Expresses Full Satisfaction

Washington, November 23.—A happy man, so obviously happy and pleased with a job well done that it kept breaking out in smiles and chuckles and friendly nudges in the ribs, Aristide Briand has made his farewell to Washington.

The French premier expressed complete satisfaction with the reception of his speech, regret at his departure, and his intention of returning.

Briand emphatically believes he had accomplished his mission.

"The world now understands the position of France," he said, "and Germany knows the world's feeling towards France. That is all I could have asked."

Subject Closed.

The general subject of limitation of land armaments, Briand said, is for the moment closed.

"Perhaps," before the conference breaks up, some general proposal, to be enacted in a more happy day in the future, may be presented.

"In the meantime, three committees will be appointed. One to discuss aeronautics as applied to war; a second to consider the use of poisonous gases and similar weapons; a third to deal with the question of an international jury to consider the position of the nations in war."

The premier expressed the belief that conferences similar to the present one might well be held in the future.

The subject of submarines, and certain caustic remarks applied recently to France's attitude, warmed Briand to a display of vehemence.

"They would take away our right to submarines," he exclaimed. "What a proposal, when one country alone has 500,000 tons in capital ships, after the limitations have been effective."

Wants Submarines.

"Capital ships, what are they for? Surely not for the study of maritime botany, not to hunt for alligators at the bottom of the sea. No, capital ships are offensive weapons. They are a threat of war, an invitation to war. Personally, I would see every capital ship in the world scrapped. But submarines they like small surface craft, are for the defense and defense only."

Those who would limit France's army further than the French themselves propose came in for consideration.

"Why do they ask a navy? Germany has no navy, neither has Russia. But these, our enemies, have armies that menace France."

"Consider this," Briand said. "This conference was met to discuss limitation of naval armaments. It has proposed reductions by thirty-three hundredths. On land, France, having the only army considered, has already reduced by thirty-three hundredths, and proposes to go further and reduce by half."

"But at least they will admit it was better than a war."

When Briand bid farewell to his colleagues of the conference, at the close of this morning's meeting, he said:

"I feel I must express my deep regret at being obliged to interrupt my co-operation in the work of the conference. This being the last day I shall be able to spend in Washington, I shall always consider it one of the greatest honors of my life."

"I have been able to attend this conference, following the noble and generous initiative taken by the American Government. While, as I have said, I make it a point now to express

World's Greatest Stride For Brotherhood of Man

BY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE.
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)

Washington, November 23.—Today the American Thanksgiving becomes a world event. Never before, not even when our troops landed in France, did the world feel such brotherhood with America as it feels to-day.

Our service in the world war might easily have been wasted had it not been followed by this greater service which America is giving the world today. Until now the war has achieved nothing but hate, greed, suspicion and deceit, the very things which make war inevitable.

Grown since the war even more rank and poisonous than before the war, with tax burdens mounting until citizens were crushed under the tax weight, competitive armament was giving rise to a new era of competition, of grabbing and malice. The leprosy of anarchy and famine was whitening Europe with death. The response to the war, which about to rot with Russia, was given danger in England and France.

Then came the American call across the world to stop the festival of hate and to come and reason together. The burial of the unknown soldier and the president's speech at his grave brought relief that rose from men's deeply grateful hearts.

For the first time since the planet, a definite reliable hope for peace on earth among men, good will was set before man. The things that America has done are well comparable with the great events of human history. The world has seen the light of peace, the organization of tribal government, the invention of the alphabet, the discovery of the art of printing, the abolition of slavery, the discovery of steam, the declaration of independence. And what we have done depends very little upon the result of this present conference sitting in Washington.

Place in History.

This conference may fail entirely— which is a gross improbability, and still the American proposal will have its place in human history. For we have spoken a truth in the open and from a high place, from with more emotion than I could put into my words at our last public meeting, however sorry we may be at the same time how grateful I am for the kind words which have been addressed to me and, through me, to France.

Toward Peace.

"I feel certain that this friendly exchange of views before the whole world, will be one of the great steps along the road towards peace; it has created a new atmosphere without which it would be most difficult to achieve results."

"No, nobody will be able to say that France has aggressive intentions. To speak frankly, France had need of such words, for she has been violently attacked; she has been crowded with such sudden thoughts, that some have doubted her real intentions."

"In a few days—and that is one of the great things which we have done—the French parliament will take up examination of the military problem, with the desire of reaching all possible results in reducing military burdens. Our military service will probably be reduced by one-half. The words exchanged at Washington will make this easier."

FIRST CLASH OCCURS AT ARMS CONFERENCE

declined to enter into a detailed discussion of the interpretation, in the absence of an official statement containing them, the Chinese delegation declared committee discussion of the resolutions had brought forth no expression by the delegates of the British view and that China placed no such interpretation on them.

The construction, Dr. See said, had not even been mentioned in the committee.

According to the Chinese view, the Root resolution applied the "open door" as embodied in the policy defined by John Hay, waiving of special rights and privileges, unhampered political and economic development of China and assurance of her territorial, political and administrative integrity.

The British view, if accepted, the Chinese assert, would be tantamount to the international fiscal control which would be only a short step to political control.

Made Progress.

Notwithstanding these cross currents, the committee considering the Far Eastern situation, with special reference at the moment to China's financial affairs, made progress toward a solution of her customs by the appointment of a subcommittee to study the question.

Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to Great Britain and one of the conference delegates, presented China's proposal for restoration of her tariff autonomy by three stages. He asked that from January 1, 1922, China be permitted to levy a maximum duty of 12½ per cent, which he said had already been stipulated in treaties with the United States, Great Britain and Japan, in order to give immediate relief. Recognizing that it featured hardly possible to establish a new customs regime at once, Dr. Koo said that China should impose a maximum rate with full freedom within that maximum including the right of differentiation among the different classes of commodities. Finally, full autonomy should be restored to China after a certain period to be agreed upon.

Central Points.

When the arms delegates quit work the head of one of the great governments of the world, adding prestige to principle. And in speaking we have given the world a realizable hope, hope definitely new, and have pointed the way straight to world peace. If this conference fails then from out of the world's aspiration will inevitably come another conference and still another, until the hope is realized. Such words as were spoken in this meeting will not be allowed by their common people to hang long about details. They may escape this conference, but they will escape it into a condemnation at home that will make them dead to the next conference and agree.

New Spirit Comes.

And as a matter of recorded fact, agreement has been reached here upon matters as difficult and as practical as any now binding civilization to the old order. China is to be free from exploitation. The Pacific problems are well under way to solution. Council and arbitration are succeeding as never before have they succeeded in the world. More are displaying the kind reasonableness as representatives of nations which, for thousands of years, men have shown in their private affairs. A new spirit is coming into the earth. It was for this spirit that the great war was fought. This was the new heaven and the new earth which we have seen amid the wreck of war. For three years this spirit was dormant in the world's heart. America called it into being.

So today is the American Thanksgiving and rejoicing all over the earth. It is the day which celebrates the new stride toward the brotherhood of man. And among other reasons for gratitude today is the fact that opportunity has come to us, all the peoples of the earth, to lead mankind a little way nearer what must be the divine goal of the race. But we should make our gratitude for fear and trembling. For the responsibility is too great for any but a humble heart to bear.

For the Thanksgiving recess, the considerations embraced the central points of interest.

Whether an effort to apply generally accepted principles to specific cases in the Far East would bring definite accomplishments, or only lead to futile debate.

Whether, in view of the position of France and the general situation in Europe, any serious attempt should be made to agree on a limitation of land armament.

Whether a way can be found to hasten consideration of details of the naval limitation plans, which is proceeding smoothly, but too slowly to satisfy some of the delegates.

Some of the questions were brought sharply to the forefront tonight regarding elements of the Far Eastern negotiations. At today's executive sessions of the nine delegations, the right of the Chinese delegates to speak for the whole of China, was reported to have been questioned by France, and later a British interpretation of the general principles already adopted, was challenged by some of the Chinese.

Land Armaments.

Earlier in the day the land armament problem had been debated behind closed doors by the delegates of the big five powers, without further result than the appointment of a subcommittee to consider collateral subjects, like the use of airplanes and poison gas. Premier Briand, of France, making his farthest speech to the conference, pressed his argument that his country dared not disarm unless he had guarantees from the other powers, although out of the general discussion grew renewed expressions of sympathy from every other formal joint declaration of policy.

On the side of the naval reduction program developments were so completely of the picture that some of the delegates showed impatience and pointed out the possible danger that the negotiations might become confused by the exclusion of a discussion of details. It is possible that the naval experts will be asked to simplify methods so as to expedite action. Tomorrow will be a day of rest so far as meetings of the conference and its subdivisions are concerned, although it may see some real progress through consultations among the various individuals and groups.

Official Communique.

The following communique was issued after the meeting today of the subcommittee on limitation of armament.

"The subcommittee composed of the heads of delegations, of the five powers represented on the committee on limitation of armament, held a meeting this afternoon, Wednesday, November 23, at 5 p. m., for the purpose of considering the order of procedure in connection with the new agencies of warfare and of rules for the conduct of the war. The subcommittee decided to create three boards of experts, each member of the subcommittee to nominate the members of these boards as follows:

"1. With respect to aircraft, their quantity, character and use.
"2. With respect to poison gases.
"3. With respect to appropriate rules for the conduct of war."

"These experts are to conduct their inquiries under the direct supervision of the subcommittee composed of the heads of the five delegations. As each subject is prepared for the discussion of the full committee, it will be reported to it."

"Mr. Briand took leave of his colleagues, expressing his regret at being obliged to depart. The other members of the subcommittee expressed their regret that he was obliged to leave them and their appreciation of the great part he had taken in the proceedings."

OFFICIAL REPORT ON DELIBERATIONS

But the fact was that the custom rates then prevailing were much lower than the 1 per cent stipulated for. It was only in 1902 that a revision was made in order to afford sufficient funds to meet the Chinese obligations arising out of the Boxer protocol. In that tariff the rate was calculated on the basis of the average prices of 1897 to 1899. In 1912, an attempt was made by the Chinese government to have another revision but it failed, owing to the difficulty of securing the unanimous consent of sixteen of seventeen powers. It was only after years of long negotiations that in 1918 another revision was effected. The tariff of 1918 is in force and yields only 3 1-2 per cent.

Koo's Proposal.

"Mr. Koo proposed to restore to China the right to fix and to differentiate the import tariff rates, but as it appeared hardly possible to establish a new regime all at once, he said the full autonomy should be restored to China after a certain period to be agreed upon. In the meanwhile, China would impose a maximum rate and would like to enjoy and have full freedom within that maximum, such as the present financial condition of the Chinese government was such as to require some immediate relief. It was proposed that on and after January 1, 1922, the Chinese import tariff be raised to 12 1-2 per cent, as it was stipulated for in the treaty with the United States, Great Britain and Japan."

"Among the reasons he gave in support of the proposals of the Chinese delegation, the following is the gist:

"1. The existing customs regime in China constitutes an infringement on China's sovereign right to fix the tariff rates at her own discretion.
"2. It deprives China of the power to make reciprocity arrangements with the foreign powers. While all foreign goods imported into China pay only 5 per cent, Chinese goods exported to foreign countries have to pay duties of a maximum rate. Examples were given to show this lack of reciprocity.

"3. It constitutes a serious impediment upon the economic development of China.
"4. As the system now stands, there is only one uniform rate and no differentiation of rates. The disadvantage is obvious because it does not take into account the economic and social needs of the Chinese people. China is in need of machinery and metals for which China would like to impose a tariff rate even lower than the 5 per cent. For luxuries, such as cigars and cigarettes, they ought to pay heavy tax perhaps in order to prevent their injurious effects upon the morals and social habits of the people. As it stands, therefore, the Chinese tariff is not scientific at all."

Loss of Revenue.

"5. The present tariff has occasioned a serious loss of revenue upon the Chinese exchequer. The item of customs duties is an important one in the budget of nearly all countries; for instance, Great Britain raises 12 per cent of its revenue from customs duties; France, 15 per cent and the United States, 35 per cent, before the world war, but the customs revenue of the Chinese budget, as it now stands, becomes a comparatively insignificant factor."

"6. The present regime makes it exceedingly difficult for the Chinese government to ask for a revision, as it was shown in the past experiences in 1912 and 1918.
"7. Even if the effective 5 per cent

The Dartmouth football team will be honored guests at a dance to be given at the Georgian Terrace hotel Saturday afternoon, after the game with the University of Georgia. The hours are from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Girl Reserves Hold Service.

The recognition service conducted by 90 girls reserves of the Girls' High school, Fulton High and Commercial High, at the Y. Peachtree arcade, Wednesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock, was an impressive occasion. In honor of the girls who have recently become members of the reserve of the three high schools, the candle service expressed the symbolism of the young reserves and visualized the high ideals of character, loyalty and service that are embodied in their code.

An impressive tableau formed when the girls, with their lighted candles, stood in the outline of a triangle with their three club presidents standing at the head, Sarah E. King, of Fulton High school; Helen Modie, of Girls' High school, and Elizabeth Volberg, of Commercial High. Elizabeth Volberg was soloist of the service.

The next impressive scene was when Sybil Fallon, dressed in white and bearing a silver cup, symbolic of the

Will Break Dirt Saturday For Habersham Memorial

With appropriate ceremonies, the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., of which Mrs. W. H. White is regent, will break dirt Saturday afternoon for the magnificent hall to be erected, as a memorial to Georgians who have died for their country, on the beautiful lot at the corner of Fourteenth street and Piedmont avenue, facing the Piedmont driving club. Elaborate plans have been drawn for the hall, which will be one of the most imposing structures of its kind in the country. As large assembly room, the largest in a building of this nature in the city, will be a feature, as will also be the library which will contain a splendid collection of books. Habersham Memorial hall, like the chapter, is named for Joseph Habersham, the Savannah lad of revolution.

Holy Grail, was seen, the girls symbolizing, as she stood in reverie, the reserve ideals before which the triangular group of girls knelt in recognition, extending to her their lighted candles. Song and music were a part of the service.

Following the service, the mothers and the girls were entertained at tea in the Y. W. clubroom.

There were 340 girl reserves in Atlanta. They met after school at the Y. W. Peachtree arcade, where they have their reserve club programs.

Oyster Supper In Decatur.

Decatur chapter, O. E. S., will give an oyster supper from 6 to 8:30 o'clock in the Masonic hall, Decatur, Ga., on Tuesday, November 29. The supper will be followed by a program consisting of a woman's wedding and other special features. One ticket admits to both the supper and the entertainment.

Philatelic Club Entertains Patients.

The Philatelic club, of Grace Methodist church, Miss Marion Cook president, gave a delightful program at Hospital 48, on Peachtree road, Wednesday evening. A special contest was enjoyed, and delicious refreshments served to the patients.

Oakland City P.-T. A. Party to Fathers.

The Oakland City Parent-Teacher association will entertain the fathers of school children tomorrow night at the school. All school patrons are cordially invited to be present.

House Party at "The Oaks."

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Conyers and their mother, Mrs. Z. A. Tate, left yesterday for Ellenton, where they will entertain the house party given by Tate and Ben Conyers, Jr., at the Tate plantation, "The Oaks," eighteen miles from Ellenton on the Petersburg road. This plantation has been in the Tate family since before the civil war, and is a place of interest.

The guests will include John and Roy Collier, Jr., Jack Glenn and Philip McDuffie, Jr. A possum hunt will be the feature of the entertainment provided and the party will return to Atlanta on Sunday afternoon.

Twentieth Century Coterie Meeting.

The Twentieth Century Coterie will meet on Friday afternoon, November 25 at 3 o'clock with Mrs. J. H. Christian, 81 Penn avenue.

Mrs. Judd Entertains A. F. F. Visitors.

The members of the woman's committee and the wives of the officers of the American Farm Bureau Federation in convention here this week were honor guests at a beautiful luncheon given by Mrs. M. E. Judd, of Dalton, member of the advisory board of the Georgia Farm Bureau Federation from the seventh congressional district, at the Ansley hotel Tuesday at 1 o'clock.

Covers were placed for Mrs. James R. Howard, wife of the president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Mrs. J. W. Covell, wife of the national secretary; Mrs. Charles Schuttler, chairman of the woman's committee; Mrs. Izetta Brown, Mrs. J. R. Ketchum and Mrs. E. R. Bridgen, members of the woman's committee; Mrs. E. Richardson and Mrs. W. S. Jamison, wives of national directors; Miss Mary E. Greenwell, dean of the woman's extension work of the State Agricultural college, Athens; Miss Frances Ward, wife of the woman in the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. E. F. Boykin, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, and Mrs. Judd.

SCHOOL WARRANT DUPLICATE ASKED

case came as virtually the only development in the Berrien case Wednesday. No report was made to the governor by the Pinkerton detectives who were detailed to the case and no report of success was turned in by Sheriff Lowry, in whose hands the warrant for Berrien's arrest was placed after it had been sworn out before Judge T. O. Hathecock of the municipal court, Monday afternoon.

No reward has been issued by the state for the arrest of the missing broker. Under the law the only reward that can be issued is one of $250 the same as for fugitives in other criminal cases not involving murder.

Attorney General Napier, to whom the legal phases of the warrants were referred by the governor, stated that he would not have an opinion prepared in the case for several days. He said there would be much research work to be done and that the question is one of such importance that it will take several days to prepare an opinion.

Britain's Letter.

In reference to the "Chatham county warrant," Superintendent Brittain wrote the governor as follows: "Herewith I send you letter from Superintendent J. B. Gibson, of Savannah, dated and signed by R. N. Berrien, Jr., for $10,000.51. There is also certificate of protest and notice."

Superintendent Gibson asks for a good check on the funds for this warrant number 1147 and I hope that you can aid in providing same by which R. N. Berrien, Jr. company has failed to provide.

"Even if the state can not finally get the money, the educational authorities of Chatham should not be made to suffer any more than they have been lost in a railway accident or stolen by a clever agent in transmission. Comptroller-General Wright has expressed the same thought to me, and I hope, therefore, that you can let us have a duplicate for this and the other warrants until they are made good or restitution is made through R. N. Berrien, who, in accordance with the act of 1915, is formally awarded, as the lowest bidder, the right to discount these warrants."

Reply of Governor.

In reply the governor said he would refer the matter to the attorney-general. The question raised by you is a serious legal question and I feel it my duty to submit the matter to the attorney-general. The governor wrote Superintendent Brittain. "As soon as I can obtain his advice in the light of it pass on the question raised I shall be glad to notify you of my decision."

Presenting the general legal status of the warrants and reviewing the circumstances surrounding the adoption of the system of selling deferred school warrants Superintendent Brittain wrote Attorney-General Napier the following letter:

"I understand that Governor Hardwick will call upon you to decide as to whether or not the different city and county boards of education will have to suffer the loss of the proceeds of the warrants which appear to have been misappropriated by R. N. Berrien. In my opinion, they should not suffer one dollar's loss."

"After the passage of this loan warrant act in 1915, the then governor, in the effort to proceed as wisely as possible, called a conference of leading bankers in the executive department to arrange a plan for the sale and handling of these warrants. The senator who introduced the measure was a prominent banker, also present at the meeting. The plan decided upon, under the law, was that which has been followed carefully and exactly by all the officials. The different county superintendents, treasurers and state superintendent were requested to sign on the dotted line, and in exact detail the requirements then made have been carried out to the last sign. These fifteen or sixteen counties and local systems have not received this portion of the debt due them for educational purposes by the state. The funds were abstracted in transit, as seems probable. If these particular warrants cannot be legally repaid through failure of consideration and duplicates issued, I hope and believe that you will decide that the governor has authority to let these local systems and counties have a warrant to replace these funds, even if the state should not find Mr. Berrien and make him replace them."

Back Is Broken

When Auto Turns

Turtle Near Sparta

Sparta, Ga., November 23.—(Special.)—Rosser D. Smith, deputy of Hancock county, had his back broken and suffered internal injuries which will likely prove fatal, in the opinion of Dr. Richard Binion, of Milledgeville, when his automobile turned turtle and the Sparta and Milledgeville public road about midnight Tuesday night. The injured man was carried to Milledgeville Wednesday morning and is under the care of Dr. Binion. When the accident occurred Mr. Smith was traveling alone and in the direction of Sparta. The wrecked automobile with Mr. Smith in an unconscious state under it was discovered at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning by a lineman of the Southern Bell Telephone company, who communicated with Milledgeville summoning aid.

Paris, November 23.—A flying automobile is the latest development in the French aero world. A successful demonstration of an ordinary automobile with folding wings, two engines, one of ten-horsepower for land going and the other of 200-horsepower for air travel, was held recently at Bue, Seine-et-Oise. The machine performed all the usual feats of an airplane and also of an automobile.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

A specially arranged Thanksgiving day program is offered at Loew's Grand theatre today. Five splendid vaudeville acts, headed by a merry musical tropical farce "Innocent Eve." This skit sparkles with wit, music and dancing, and is presented by a talented company of four people. Dorothea Davis is featured. Other acts include "The Bill Poster," with a new crop of songs; Boyd and King, presenting "The Caneblower Girl," and Harry Bentley, the dancing xylophonist. The screen program is a long one, and is headed by Edna Murphy and Johnny Walker in an exciting photoplay, "The Jolt."

Four complete performances are offered today, starting at 2, 4, 7 and 9 p. m.

"The Speed Girl."

(At the Howard.)

Debe Daniels continues to exhilarate audiences at the Howard theatre this week in her swiftly moving, break-neck production, "The Speed Girl." And Walter Hiers continues to help her in providing many laughs for the Howard theatre patrons.

The story has to do with Bebe's recent law-breaking escapade, the two main ingredients of which were the violation of the California speed laws and a ten-day sojourn in one of their famous jails.

"The Sheik."

(At the Howard Next Week.)

The Howard theatre will present all next week "The Sheik," a Paramount picture adapted from the famous novel of the same name, by Edith M. Hull. George Melford directed the production, and the cast includes Rudolph Valentino, Agnes Ayres, Adolph Menjou, Walter Luger, Lucien Littlewood, George Wagner, Ruth Miller and F. R. Butler.

The story is fascinating, exotic and alive with the color of the Algerian Sahara. It concerns the infatuation of a tribal chieftain, known as "The Sheik," for a haughty and beautiful English girl who is visiting El Sahara, his abduction of the girl and Special Program.

(At the Strand.)

A special program for the Thanksgiving holiday has been arranged by the management of the Strand theatre. It consists of Neal Hart's newest picture entitled "Kingfisher's Roost," a red-blooded, thrilling story of the Mexican border. This picture bears the distinction of being the only feature film that was started and completely finished within the Mexican border. In connection with the feature another feature less in film footage but equally important, will be shown. It is Charlie Chaplin in his newest first National production, "The Idle Class." In this picture Charlie takes two exceptionally funny roles and does such of them in only the fashion that Charlie Chaplin can do a part. This program will be shown for three days. RACIAL MEASURE VETOED BY MAYOR

The veto of Mayor Key was affirmed Wednesday morning to the ordinance passed by the city council Monday forbidding the joint worship of whites and negroes in Atlanta churches.

Mayor Key had announced that he would call a public hearing on the question before acting, but after being advised by a delegation of ministers, who waited on him Wednesday, that, in their belief, a public meeting would only tend to irritate the question, the mayor decided to veto the measure at once.

"This ordinance," said the mayor in his veto message, "will, and does invade that which is a matter of conscience with a great many people. The results that could be gained are of very doubtful value, and on the whole I regard the legislation as very unwise and one that would produce a great deal more trouble and irritation than it would allay."

In the delegation visiting the mayor were Rev. W. H. Major, pastor of Capitol Avenue Baptist church, and president of the Evangelical Ministers' association; Dr. J. H. Eakes, presiding elder of the South Atlanta district; Dr. W. H. LaPrade, presiding elder of the North Atlanta district; Rev. Ben R. Lacy, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church; Rev. W. T. Hinnant, James Morton, secretary of the Evangelical Ministers' association; and W. M. Davies, The ministers submitted to the mayor a resolution adopted Tuesday night by the Christian council at a meeting held at the Second Baptist church, protesting against the ordinance and urging the mayor's veto.

The segregation measure was passed by a vote of 12 to 11 over an adverse report of the ordinance committee, and in the face of the opinion of the city attorney that the paper was unconstitutional. Councilman Walter A. Sims was the author of the measure.

Christmas.

The storm kept many customers from interrupting Cap'n Abe, although the wind was moderating. He sat with Cap'n Jonah in the living room and discussed the latter's financial affairs more earnestly. "You say this here money you got in your wallet is all you got in the world, Cap'n Hand?"

"Whatever! Nor no more to be had," said Cap'n Jonah. "I got some lie sheers—but, pshaw! They ain't nothin'."

"What air them sheers?" demanded Cap'n Abe, suddenly. "I was read in 'The Globe' paper only this mornin'."

"He got up and brought the Boston paper from the rack on the wall. Unfolding it he found the financial page and pointed a horny forefinger to the heading of an article there printed.

"'Hem! Whatever! What d'you make of this, Mr. Silt? Why, them's the very sheers! The Little Sandy Oil and Coal company!'

"Lemme see," said Cap'n Abe eagerly. "D'you mean to say, Cap'n Hand, that you got some of 'em Little Sandy sheers?"

"Abe Silt!" ejaculated Cap'n Jonah, almost breathless. "I got two thousand of 'em. Right here in my pocket! D'you s'pose they can be the same?"

whenever he would, in sorrow or in joy, how much we love him for what he is and for what he has been to us."

The old storekeeper's voice was husky. He cleared it with a vociferous "Hum!" but could not go on. Therefore he stepped closer to the talking machine. There was already a disc in place, and touching the release spring, this began to revolve. To the accompaniment of an organ a male chorus began to croon. "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgotten?"

"Liphalet Truitt," rose the trumpet call of the storekeeper's voice above the melody of the old song, "your neighbors and wellwishers ask me to present this here machine to you as a mark of their esteem and love, as the feller said. And believe me," concluded Cap'n Abe, whacking the amazed recipient heartily on his shoulder, "I got it into my head to do a job since Hector was a pup—an' Hector's a big dog now!"

There rose a general laugh at Cap'n Abe's little joke. The storekeeper was responsive smile upon Liphalet's face. He stood there as amazed and stunned an individual as there was on all storm-swept Cape Cod that night.

"I ain't able to tell ye," at last he said humbly, tears in his eyes. "I ain't been so willin' to do a job since Hector was a pup—an' Hector's a big dog now!"

CADETS WIN PREP TITLE

BY ROY E. WHITE.

G. M. A. clinched the city prep football championship when they defeated University school 7 to 0 Wednesday afternoon at Ponce de Leon. The game was one of the most interesting ones played on a prep gridiron this year, and was full of thrills from beginning to end.

G. M. A. won the game near the close of the first half, with only eight seconds to play. Captain Simonwitz threw a 25-yard pass to King who ran only three yards to a touchdown. It was a peculiar pass, University kicking a bit, but Empire Thrash saw it. Simonwitz threw to King and King ran for a touchdown. Thrash knocked it down but King caught it only a few inches above the ground and ran the remaining three yards to a touchdown. The pass was not good.

The strong defensive playing of both lines was one of the features, for line after line would hold like a stone wall and turn the opponents back with practically no gain. This is proven by the fact that both teams made a total of 75 first downs.

The "thin red line" of G. M. A. proved itself during the close of the game when they held the "Bluebird" backs for four downs on their own 6-yard line, after University had carried the ball from G. M. A.'s 45-yard line. University had their only chance of the game to score near the close, when they recovered the fumble of the game on G. M. A.'s 45-yard line. Here the "Bluebirds" fortunes took a decided change when they started a series of line bucks that carried the ball to G. M. A.'s 6-yard line only to be held. During this series of gains, Captain Laird of University was the outstanding star. He carried the ball himself practically all the 39 yards. So great was the rushing through the G. M. A. line that Coach Burdette had to turn the backs of his linemen and send in new ones. This stopped the rushing of University.

The playing of University was the best in the initial quarter. They had the ball in G. M. A.'s territory most of the time but never threatened the goal line. Their brilliant was the "thin red line" defense.

G. M. A. takes lead. G. M. A. had the advantage of the playing in the second quarter for they scored several beautiful passes that netted a touchdown. In this quarter they also weakened the "Bluebird" line enough to score two first downs. In the third quarter they neither side had any chance to score and the playing was on a par, both sides making two first downs. The varsity crowded round and gave cheerers for Alex. for the first time. The Kid. They beat it out to the showers. The hand was out, too, playing as never before to show the team it was not only a team but a team. When they "Ramblin' Red" you could hear the cheer for blocks.

Auburn has come with blood in their eyes. Some of the men are crippled but it is only an incentive to the others to fight harder. Boys, they are going to fight! Fight is the great equalizer of teams, and no team is more valuable than all others, the thing that makes a little team a team for a bigger one. What Auburn lacks in this game is an action, they will make up in fight. Not that they have any lean material, but the fact that two regulars are out of the game will cause them to play harder. They will have Pearce and Caton and Shirling, though, and what more could be needed? With three men such as that they will put up an air-tight defense. They really have a good defense if they can get it going. And today is the day of all days in the year that they will get it going, if it is humanly possible. They are coming after us, and they are coming strong. The more a fellow looks at that game the more he begins to fear Auburn.

Chances are as good. Right now they have the same chance as we. Their football players face as good a chance as we do to know as much football. They have a good coach. Coupled with that is the fact that they have been pointing in this game, and they will put up and will fight as never before. Their chances are as good as ours, and the deciding factor will be the amount of fight that the two teams put into the game. It's an even chance, and we are ready.

We could be in a little better shape, but we're not kicking. "Red" Bateson will probably start as "Dumny" Levey. With these two boys in the line-up, our chances will take a considerable leap. There will be five boys in the game who will be playing at their last game for the Gold and White. They have been with the school in its victories and its defeats. They have fought bravely all the time, they have given their best. When the whistle blows it will be the sound for them to go forth and play the game of their lives, so that they might have a pleasant memory of that last game. Jolly and Frank, Duddy, Al and Oscar, and the rest of us will be fighting for them to help them carry away a pleasant memory. Boys, we're with you to the last. Let's go get them!

Memphis Is Awarded Swim.

Memphis, Tenn., November 23.—A telegram today from William Street, commissioner for the south of the Amateur Athletic union, stated that Memphis had been awarded the ten-mile junior national swim, to be held next summer.

ROAD RACES AT BIG GAME

According to advices received in Atlanta last night, the Atlanta Athletic club has been awarded the senior fifty-yard swimming events by the A. A. U. in session in Chicago. This is a national championship dash and the winner will be the titleholder. Al Doonan stated last night that a swimming meet with this event as the main attraction would be arranged. William L. Pout, of Boston, was elected president of the union.

Forty-two starters clashed through the highways and byways, likewise the valleys and dells of the north side of Atlanta this afternoon in the first annual cross country run of the Southeastern Association of the Amateur Athletic union, the George W. Adair cup being the object of their endeavor. The run will be a sort of extra added attraction to the Tech-Auburn football game as the start will be made from Grant field between halves and the finish will be staged at the same place just as the referee summons the teams to renew hostilities.

The George W. Adair cup, emblematic of the championship will be given to the organization whose team of six men finishes first, to be held by them for one year, and to become the permanent property of the organization which wins it three times. The individual who wins a first place award a gold medal, the second a silver medal, and each of the next eight men finishing will be awarded bronze medals. The runner-up will be given each member of the winning team. All these prizes are donated by the Atlanta Athletic club.

Organizations Entered. The following organizations are entered: Auburn: Jenkins, Boyd, Stockberg, Perry, McIntosh, Lee, Lasater, Reynolds. University of Alabama: Irons, Coston, Miles. Birmingham Athletic club: Ritcher, Beatty, McDonald, J. McDonald, W. Hoskins, Chestnut.

Atlanta Athletic club: Graydon, Colwell, Blalock, Enloe, Peterson, Coleman, Ratcliff, Foltz, Sullivan, Stokes, Wilkerson, Harper, Mitchell, Sanford, Cullen. Georgia Tech: Cotton, Moore, Daves, Carter, Milner, Barton, Stubbs, Tappin, Cook, Calhoun.

Prominent in the race is Ritcher of the Birmingham Athletic club, who has twice won the great annual road-race of that organization. The race will start at Grant field and will cover a course of three miles, starting in front of the grandstand at Grant field. The runners will leave the field at 10 o'clock and will run on Third street and back into Grant field. Third street to Techwood drive; out Techwood drive to Tenth street; out Tenth street to State street; out State street to Fourteenth street; out Fourteenth street to McMillan street; out McMillan street to Tenth street; down Tenth street to Techwood drive; down Techwood drive to Third street and back into Grant field.

The officials are: Referee, A. A. Doonan; Judges, B. W. Farnham, Ed. Monroe, H. V. Voorhis, Joe Bean, J. Hume McDonald, Bernard, Neel, Steve Hartney, William J. Crum, W. H. York, James Hinton, Ed. Hatcher, Walter Thole, Ray Hastings; Time-keepers, R. B. Lott, J. J. Jarrell, Eugene Dahlbender; Pathfinder, T. L. Corwin.

GEORGIA IN GREAT SHAPE

BY JEROME JONES, JR.

Athens, Ga., November 23.—(Special.)—The Clemson Tigers arrived in Athens tonight for their annual struggle with the Georgia Bulldogs Thursday. While it is not expected that Clemson will give the Red and Black a good amount of trouble, yet the unexpected may happen and Georgia is taking no chances at this late date.

Consequently, Captain Owen Reynolds announced today that the entire Georgia varsity will open the game against the Tigers. No serious change has been held at Sanford field this week and Coach Stegeman is availing himself of this opportunity of giving his first string men a few minutes of hard grunting. The varsity will continue in the game until a safe score has been made, when they will retire in favor of the reserves. At this writing the Red and Black team is in the best condition that it has been in for the whole season. Dave Collins is the only man who is in the excellent shape. Collins is suffering from a stiff neck, which, it seems, will keep him out of the Dartmouth game.

Spirit Meeting. A large spirit meeting was held Tuesday night at the chapel as a final send-off to the Georgia team before they leave for Atlanta for the Dartmouth game. The meeting was held early in the week because many of the students left Athens today to spend Thanksgiving in Atlanta.

Speeches were made by the coaches, Professor Sanford, Chancellor Barrow and others. The spirit of all of these talks was very optimistic, and the entire squad was that they will be one well worth seeing for the team are just about evenly matched in weight. Marist will probably have an edge in experience, they having played football before. This is the first year that the typists have attempted to put a team on the field and they have done well on their first appearance.

Eddie Lynch Joins Cripples In Camp of Dartmouth's Team

Goes Out With Sprained Ankle—Was Great Hero in Game With Syracuse Saturday.

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY.

The services of Eddie Lynch, the splendid end that scored Dartmouth's lone touchdown against Syracuse at the Polo grounds last Saturday, are going to be lost to the big Green machine in Saturday's intercollegiate tilt with the University of Georgia Bulldogs Saturday at Grant field. Toward the close of practice yesterday—in fact, just as the order was given to start the finishing touches of the workout with an exhibition of Dartmouth's famous "grass drill"—Lynch keeled over, a pained expression clouding his features. Officials of the visiting eleven rushed to his aid and a physician was called. Examination showed that Lynch's right ankle was sprained, and there is little hope being held out for this for his appearance in Saturday's struggle.

Crushing Blow. Lynch's misfortune will be a crushing blow to these gallant easterners. Jim Robertson, their big ace, is unable to participate in much of the work, and will hardly be in anything that even remotely resembles his top form Saturday. "Chick" Barton hasn't done any work since coming south, but it might be started Saturday. It is out of the question to consider Seigfried, the Green's center, but his second day on crutches yesterday, and no improvement in his condition has been noted. And now, with Lynch out of the game, it appears that there is no end to the hard luck that must come to Jack Cannell and his stalwarts.

Lynch is far from being discouraged. His breaks have been tough, but the little mentor declines to toss up the sponge and predict a Georgia victory. "I have all the confidence in the world in the Dartmouth players," he stated yesterday, "and I believe that they are coming through Saturday."

Willie Hoppe, Billiard Wizard, Defeated by Young Schaefer

Champion Loses Title After Sixteen Years of Supremacy—Final Score 500 to 346.

Chicago, November 23.—Jake Schaefer, true son of his father, the old wizard, is the new billiard champion of the world. With his brilliant cue that equalled that of his vanquished opponent, when he won the Chicago Open last year, he defeated the hitherto unbeatable Willie Hoppe. The score was 500 to 346.

It was one of the most exciting billiard championship games in the history of the sport. Schaefer won the bank and ran 86 before missing. Hoppe, who has been off his stroke in this tournament, then gave evidence of suddenly regaining his true form by running 140 before missing.

With the cheer of Hoppe's youngsters in his ears, the tall, calm youngster took his cue and shot 212 of the most beautiful billiards the thousands of spectators had ever seen. Schaefer's control of the balls was wizardry. Seemed to Relax. After this master inning both players seemed to relax under the high tension. In the fifth inning Schaefer again got a start and ran off 130, missing an easy chance. He had only 44 to go and Hoppe, realizing that for the first time in 16 years he stood to lose his coveted championship, deliberately prepared for his master effort.

He had the balls in beautiful position and was clicking the points off at a dizzy rate when he missed. It was the break of the game. The younger player's cue went out with a unfinished run of 44.

The score: Schaefer... 86-212-16-12-130-44—500 Hoppe... 140-26-7-120-47—346

CONFERENCE SLATED SOON

Letters reminding members of the Southern Intercollegiate conference of the annual meeting in Atlanta on December 2 and 3 have been sent out by N. W. Dougherty, of the University of Tennessee and secretary-treasurer of the association.

These letters state the first meeting of the conference will be December 2 at the Piedmont hotel where headquarters will be maintained. The main purpose of the meeting is the adoption of a constitution and by-laws.

Accompanying these letters are circulars with the basic principles of the organization. The following is the article which sets forth the principles on which the S. I. C. was built: "I. That the organization shall be called the Southern Intercollegiate Conference."

"II. That it shall be limited to 16 institutions, principally state institutions of the southern states. "III. That the constitution and by-laws shall be built upon the following: "A. No person shall compete in intercollegiate athletics until he shall have been in residence one year and has completed the scholarship requirements of the institution in which he enters. "B. No person shall compete in intercollegiate athletics until he shall have been in residence one year and has completed the scholarship requirements of the institution in which he enters. "C. No person shall compete in intercollegiate athletics until he shall have been in residence one year and has completed the scholarship requirements of the institution in which he enters."

Seeing the Town. Yesterday morning was pleasantly spent on a sight-seeing tour of Atlanta's prettiest spots girls as chauffeurs. This tour lasted until a few minutes before lunch. Cannell was better than his business conferences with prominent Dartmouth alumni residing in Atlanta, and was unable to go on the sight-seeing expedition.

Thanksgiving day is going to be a big day for the visitors. They will be entertained at dinner by Green alumni, and will be honor guests at the Auburn-Georgia Tech football game during the afternoon. Cannell has accepted the invitation of the Atlanta newspaper men to view the football game from the press box, and will see the first chance in his career to see a football game without having to deal with his pleasure.

DRUID HILLS SIGNS MAYO

Charlie Mayo, professional at the Edgewater (Chicago) Golf club, is to be the golf professional at Druid Hills, succeeding the late Douglas Edgar, who was killed during the summer in front of his boarding house on West Peachtree street, by a speeding motor car.

The announcement was given yesterday, and followed a visit by Mayo to Atlanta, where he was in conference with Dr. T. P. Hannon, Frank Adair and other officials of the Druid Hills club. It was stated that Mayo will report for duty about February 1. He has looked forward to England, to sail on December 1, and will spend probably six weeks adjusting his business affairs in England before taking up his new position in Atlanta.

Mayo was for many years professional at Filton-on-Thames before coming to this country, and was one of England's well-known golfers. He is reported to be one of the best putters in the game. He was entered in the recent national open tournament at Washington, but failed at qualifying by one stroke.

It is likely that Tom Wilson, assistant at Druid Hills during Douglas Edgar's regime, and who has been in charge since Edgar's death, will continue in that capacity under Mayo. Wilson stated yesterday that he had been asked to remain, and that he believed Wilson would consent.

Centre to Play in Tournament of Roses. New Orleans, November 23.—Centre college of Kentucky will play the University of California at Pasadena, Calif., New Year's day, according to an announcement tonight by Manager J. McGee, of the Centre football team, which is here to meet Tulane tomorrow. Manager McGee said that definite decision has not been reached to accept the invitation.

No Post-Season Games For Centre This Year. Now Orleans, November 23.—Centre will not play any post-season games this year, it was announced today by Coach Charles Moran, who has just returned from the Thanksgiving clash with Tulane.

This announcement ends the hopes of Centre that definite decision has not been reached to accept the invitation.

Injuries Will Hurt Plainmen In Clash With Tornado Today

Emmett Sizemore, Old Auburn Star, Tells of the Wounded Heroes of Donahue's Clan.

BY EMMETT SIZEMORE.

Long faces abounded in mournful numbers in the "Lovell Village" when Coach Mike Donahue, generalissimo of the Auburn football forces, entrained yesterday with his squad of players for Atlanta, where they are to meet the Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech, today, in their annual Thanksgiving classic. Old Man Jinx has certainly been working overtime in his efforts to keep within striking distance of the Plainsmen squad as they approach the Thanksgiving contest, which concludes the 1921 schedule. Only last Thursday, John Barleycorn Shirley was stricken from the ranks of the Orange and Blue team, when he collided with a bystander that was perched out in the scrimmage area. John had the misfortune to emerge from the collision with a very sprained ankle, which has since held him out of uniform and, in all probabilities, will prohibit his playing today. Shirley, not himself as equally good in the proven football, and hardly knows what a football game looks like from the sidelines.

Garland in Backfield. Peter Garland, the little halfback who performed in such brilliant style against the Tigers last season, will probably be called on to work in the backfield. Peter is playing his first year on the Plainsmen varsity, and is not expected to play in a creditable manner when called on this season. Rodney Ollinger, who has been depended on to look after the kicking department, is improving slowly from a sprained knee sustained in the Centre game. Ollinger, in all probability, will not be able to get in the lineup.

Shirling Will Play. "Shin" Shirling is recovering slowly from a severe knock he received in the game with the Moran squad. Ed will no doubt see service in today's contest. Shirling is not only a great offensive player, but plays a superb game on the defense, as well, and in the Centre game, though dazed from the severe blow, caused many a Centre backfield man to stop short of the offensive when he smeared the formation or tackled hard the runner.

But with his hospital wards overflowing, and in which lie low with injuries some of his choicest regulars, Mike Donahue has brought to Atlanta a Tiger squad that has blood in the eye, since the 24 to 0 decision of a year ago. From whistle to whistle, this young Tiger of the Plains will fight his heavier and more experienced opponent for a favorable decision on his football day of days.

On the line, Captain Caton, Lawrence Pearce, Wynne, Carter, Reagan Ray and Grisham will be available, but as to who will start the game, nothing definite is known at this time. Neal Johnson is planning to start, and Student enthusiasm and pep took a stroll skyward on Drake field when the game is scheduled to start.

Those here from Oglethorpe are Coaches Elcock and Anderson, Student Manager Ford Little, Jimmy Burns, Ted Statton and the following players: Captain Cooper, David Hanrick, Crowe, Johnson, Roberts, Wyatt, Hafele, Adams, Morris, Varnado, Turner, Stephens, Parr, Vickers, Bryant, Gordy and Hopkins.

Cornell's Grid Squad Arrives For Game. Philadelphia, November 23.—Cornell's football squad arrived today and was taken to Plunkett Country club, where the members will remain until shortly before the game tomorrow at Franklin field against the Pennsylvania eleven.

"Pennsylvania ought to win," Coach Gil Dobb said with a smile. "We have a fine passing attack and a fair driving attack but my team is not as good as the Pennsylvania coaches say it is." The Pennsylvania team is spending the night in the country and will not start the game tomorrow at Franklin field just before the game is scheduled to start.

THE ROUGH LOOKING CIGAR WITH THE SMOOTH TASTE

Every "Old Timer" Knows

that Cobs are rough looking but have the tobacco quality and satisfying taste of a 10c. straight smoke. That's because every cent goes into the finest tobacco—Havana filled—aged and cured until it is soothingly mild and mellow.

You can't smoke fancy bands and stylish workmanship—so why pay for them? Cobs are the simplest form in which cigars can be smoked—made just as the Cuban planter rolls his personal cigars.

Forget the price—try Cobs—the more you smoke the better you'll like 'em.

Like all good things Cobs are imitated—Be sure the name Cobs is on the package you buy.

EIGHTEEN KILLED IN BELFAST RIOTS

Belfast, November 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—When darkness fell tonight the death roll as the result of the disorders of the last few days had reached a total of 18. The wounded numbered 75.

Five persons were killed during the day in the sniping and sporadic outbreaks of shooting which took place in various parts of the city. Order had been restored at 8:30 o'clock this evening. The curfew was due to take effect in some parts of the city at 9 o'clock.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon, a man standing in Royal Avenue, the city's main artery, was shot. He was watching shooting which was taking place in York street. During the afternoon a woman was killed and two men and two women were wounded and taken to hospitals. Some of those now in hospitals are said to be in a serious condition.

When the disorder broke out in York street this afternoon the streets were almost impassable. Trams were held up and suspended. Two men boldly lay down on the pavement and began firing toward Royal Avenue.

Physicians explain that severe colds, LaGrippe, fevers, headaches, neuralgia and rheumatism are almost invariably attended by a weakness of the heart and require stimulation rather than depression. They maintain that the safety of Bromo-Aspirin should give it preference over all other remedies for headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, and especially for severe colds and LaGrippe. Many persons whose lips become pale and blue and who are depressed and made sleepy by plain aspirin find Bromo-Aspirin free from those objectionable qualities, as is slightly stimulating instead of depressing.

The next time you find it necessary to take aspirin, try a box of Bromo-Aspirin and just see how much quicker you are relieved, how much better you feel and watch especially the absence of any of the bad after-effects you have been getting from plain aspirin. 25c buys a box of fifteen tablets at any good drug store.—(adv.)

President of Owls Is Found Guilty Under Mann Act

Indianapolis, November 23.—John L. Tolbert, South Bend, Ind., supreme president of the Order of Owls, a fraternal organization, was found guilty today by a federal court jury of violating the Mann Act. The jury deliberated an hour before reaching its verdict.

Fifteen of the eighteen counts in the indictment were dismissed by District Attorney Frederick Van Nuy, but the three remaining charges accused Tolbert of having induced, enticed and persuaded Miss Pearl Bagley to go from Topeka to South Bend for the purposes of debauchery and for immoral purposes.

In concluding Van Nuy declared various employees of the Owls had made trips to Washington, Topeka and elsewhere "to prevent this man from being whipped by the justice he so richly deserved."

Defense counsel attacked Miss Bagley's testimony and contended that Van Nuy sought to place an "unnatural construction" on Tolbert's letters, declaring Tolbert's intention was for her to visit South Bend so as to induce her father to become a lodge organizer. The defense also referred to Miss Bagley as "not a shrieking violet," pointing out her age as 37.

SCHOLARSHIP GIVEN TO MASONIC ORPHAN

Presentation of a scholarship in the Hutton-Bryan Business college here, to Lucile Croak, child of a deceased Mason, was a feature of the Atlanta Masonic club meeting, held in the Peacock cafe, at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The scholarship was presented by Mr. Hutton. Miss Croak has been cared for by the Georgia Children's Home society, sponsored by the Masonic club.

Suggestions for increasing attendance, and for entertainment events for the holiday season were discussed. George Eubanks presided at the meeting.

Ten telephone girls gave the club members a demonstration of the manner in which telephone calls are handled by the central exchange.

DIRECTOR TESTIFIES FOR BIG COMEDIAN

statement that the three gin and orange drinks Virginia Rappe took on the day of the Arbuckle party may have caused her death, directly or indirectly.

Willing Witness. This testimony followed that of Fred Fishback, motion picture director, who said he never had smoked or drunk in his life. A strapping big fellow, Fishback was a willing witness and stated that he was "proud" to be called a friend of "Fatty."

Fishback told how he carried Virginia Rappe from the bed in the Arbuckle hotel room to the bath. He grasped her by one leg and one arm while others of the party took the other leg and arm, and carried her to a tub of cold water.

Attorneys asked him to demonstrate. "Can I use you, Judge?" asked Fishback, turning to Superior Judge Harold Londerback.

"No," snapped the court, motioning the big director away. Fishback testified that he had not seen the comedian place a piece of ice on Miss Rappe's body, nor heard anyone in the party accuse him of doing so.

Smiles at "Fatty." During his testimony, Fishback often smiled down at Arbuckle, who never took his eyes off the man who had said he was "proud" to be a friend of his. The big comedian wore a blue Norfolk suit, a soft collar, and a Red Cross button in his coat lapel. He looked tired, but not as haggard as he did Tuesday. He sat there, toying with a bit of paper, seemingly listening with gratitude for the kind words of the witnesses.
